Raymarine: Raymarine Adds Second UK Sales Event after Open House Success

Following the success of Raymarine's recent open house sales event at its headquarters in Fareham, the marine electronics specialist has announced that it will be running a six-day UK road show, bringing exclusive winter savings on the latest marine electronics directly to customers around the country.

The road show will visit key marinas in regions outside the south coast offering customers who were unable to attend the Fareham open house the chance to see and experience Raymarine's full-suite of world-leading products and technology in a fully equipped mobile showroom. Equipment on display will include the new Element Sonar GPS, the Axiom® multifunction display family, Quantum 2 Doppler radar, FLIR thermal marine cameras, award winning innovations like Raymarine ClearCruise AR and the latest LightHouse OS apps.

Working with local marinas, dealers and retailers, Raymarine aim to help customers prepare their boats for the season ahead. Experts from Raymarine will be on hand to provide technical guidance about choosing the right marine electronics system when outfitting and upgrading a boat and to explain how the equipment can improve onboard safety, navigation capabilities and marine situational awareness.

The road show will start in Plymouth on Thursday 28th February and finish in Ipswich on Tuesday 5th March. All those attending the event will be entitled to savings on any purchases made on that day.
