Multimarine, the composite engineering specialist, and builder of performance racer-cruisers Dazcat, is celebrating a successful partnership with Coppercoat, the long lasting antifoul. Ryland's Davit Crane, which won the Dame Award at METS for Best Marine Product in the World. Coppercoat is now Mutimarine's preferred antifoul option on all vessels.

Coppercoat currently offers the most successful long lasting anti-foul treatment on the market. This has been developed to provide unrivaled underwater protection for sailing yachts and motor vessels. With a single treatment of Coppercoat providing fouling protection for up to 10 years or more, saving valuable time and the cost of annual applications of traditional antifouling.

Darren Newton, director at Mutimarine comments on the success of using Coppercoat, "We have been applying Coppercoat to Dazcats for nearly two decades. The long lasting antifoul really helps with efficiency in the water and also eliminates the yearly antifoul reapplication, which can be a costly process."

Ewan Clark, Managing Director of Coppercoat, "Coppercoat have been working with Mutimarine for a number of years. It is evident that Coppercoat is becoming the first choice long-term antifoul solution.
