Fischer Panda UK Presents its Ranges and Expertise at the CV Workshop EXPO, Ireland

Mobile power solutions specialist shows its full-service hybrid and electric mobile power systems, at CV Workshop EXPO, stand S-06, 15-16 October 2022, RDS Simonscourt, Dublin

As one of the UK and Ireland's leading suppliers of hybrid mobile power solutions, Fischer Panda UK is preparing for the CV Workshop EXPO this month. Delighted to exhibit at this event for the very first time, UK based power solutions provider is eager to bring new and innovative products to the Irish commercial vehicle market.

Showcasing a range of equipment used widely throughout the commercial vehicle industry in Ireland and the UK, the Dorset based company will showcase its ranges including hybrid power applications, low CO2, low sound diesel generators and the latest air-conditioning and refrigeration systems.

Following over 30 years of being in business, Fischer Panda is renowned for its best-in-class service and aftercare for a diverse range of customers. Its current portfolio includes fleets operating in the broadcast, healthcare, retail and other vehicle sectors and its growing.

Chris Fower, Sales and Marketing Director for Fischer Panda UK said: “As Mastervolt’s technical partner since 2010 and now Autoclima’s exclusive UK supplier, we have become a ‘go-to’ supplier in the marine, military, broadcast and commercial vehicle sectors for our products and our ability to produce customised hybrid and electric power solutions.”

He also said: “We have real growth plans in the commercial vehicle market and we’re keen to find out what’s new and emerging at CV Workshop EXPO, covering such an important area of focus for our business.

“We will also be sharing how we can help businesses in Ireland meet their CO2 emission targets, which is a big priority for most right now.”

Fischer Panda UK’s Managing Director, Barry Fower will be at the CV Workshop EXPO, along with the company’s Vehicle and Specialist Applications Sales Manager, Ian Saunders, who look forward to welcoming visitors to the stand; where it will display and demonstrate a range of products highlighting the company’s integrated system approach.
