Maxwell Marine Starts Strong in 2023 with New Service Partner Appointments

Maxwell Marine, the anchoring solutions specialist, has demonstrated robust global growth strategy with the recent appointment of three new accredited service dealers.

The new Authorized Service Dealers, named as the French company, Macor Ship Repair and Maintenance and the Croatian-based Adria Docks and Magsistem, were selected as strategic partners as the company looks to strengthen and expand its service network, offering even greater service across more of Europe and the Mediterranean, which are popular charter and cruising destinations for larger yachts and Superyachts, a key market for Maxwell products.

Macor Ship Repair and Maintenance appointment came at the end of 2022, boosting the service options for Maxwell customers along the south coast of France. Providing a dedicated yacht repair and maintenance service, with over 35 years' experience and across 3 service locations they have much experience in undertaking projects on various vessels including Superyachts.

This was followed in January by Adria Docks, which uses a system of floating docks and a 300m service-wharf to provide repair, modifications and maintenance services for yachts, mega yachts and other vessels up to 150m. With such a wide scope of works offered, they present a valuable addition to the service network along the Dalmatian coast.

Magsistem also based in Croatia, have over 30 years' experience in offering specialist engineering & maintenance services and support, on a variety of ships and commercial vessels which operate in some of the harshest and demanding conditions and requiring utmost equipment reliability. Having the Maxwell brand associated and chosen by Magsistem sends a strong message to the industry about their confidence in Maxwell products.

“Adria Docks and Magsistem have often serviced Maxwell anchor and mooring systems in the past, with their experience they are a real asset as an Authorized Service Dealer.” quotes Thierry Vermeer, International Sales Manager (EMEA), “Together with the appointment of Macor, it presents a really positive start to the year for Maxwell customers, who benefit from the many years of expertise, an expanded network of service locations and specialist equipment, all now available to them through these new partnerships.”

The announcement of these new service partners, confirm Maxwell as the go-to brand for well established businesses involved in maintenance, refits and repair for prestigious, bespoke projects on a variety of vessels, pleasure boats and Superyachts.
